

FLUTTER DEVELOPER (F/M/X)

FULL-TIME, ON-SITE / REMOTE

gramotone is an app-based social network for musicians and singers, in which every user can record, edit and publish their own musical ideas and collaborate time-shifted with other users worldwide in split-screen videos (www.gramotone.com). We are an early-stage startup and are currently crafting the first prototype. The founders team both are passionate spare time musicians and therefore want to connect musicians, singers, and music lovers worldwide. We search for a Flutter developer who shares our passion for music and clean code to build our brand-new idea and to shape the future of music. We are building cool stuff quickly, with the necessary processes to ensure quality!

YOUR JOB

- State-of-the-art mobile app-development, using the open-source Flutter framework (iOS/Android) with Firebase Backend
- Design and implement new features for our cross-platform application that are scalable, modular and – most of all – delight our users
- Draft architectural decisions and explore new technologies
- Shape the foundation for our future development (code organization, development processes)
- Collaborate cross-functionally with UX, marketing, product management, engineering, and leadership in an agile, SCRUM development environment with standup's and retrospectives
- Quickly interpret abstract user stories from the product backlog and evolve them into high quality features

YOUR SKILLS

- You are an engineer with a strong technical background and bring in at least 1 year of experience developing apps with Flutter/Dart
- You write well-structured, efficient and maintainable code and enjoy participating in code reviews
- You are experienced with git, CI/CD and agile software project management methodology and related tools
- You bring experience with Firebase, offline storage, push notifications, cloud functions and analytics
- You have a BS, MS, or PhD in Computer Science, or in a related technical field
- You are willing to take ownership
- You have strong and validated interpersonal and English skills
- You love the early days of a startup where you can move fast and wear several hats

YOUR BENEFITS

- Grow together with one of the most ambitious Music Tech Startups in Europe
- You are free to live and work where you want, as long as you can be available for live collaboration workdays in European Time, speak English fluently, and can legally be employed in Germany. For our regular meetups in person (after Corona) it is beneficial, if you live in the Black Forest area.
- Equity and development into a Team Lead
- Flexible working hours
- Latest MacBook Pro, also for private use
- Directly influence the product, your opinion counts!
